

Child & Family Studies

At A Glance

Format

Online, 8-week courses

2016-2017

Tuition Rate

$400 per credit hour

Accreditation

American Association of Family and Consumer Sciences (AAFCS)

Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS)

Career Options

Early childhood educator (birth-8), family resource center, administrator, quality rating evaluator, curriculum specialist, after school teacher, assessment specialist, professional development coordinator, court designated specialist, practitioner, caregiver, provider, home visitor

Tuition Assistance

Eligible for federal financial aid, grants and scholarships

Advance your career and follow your passion with ECU Online. A degree in Child and Family Studies with a concentration in Child Development can position you to make a lasting impression. Study any time, from anywhere. Network with those in the field while gaining knowledge and experience. Achieve your goals on your terms.

Why Choose ECU?

- Coursework including child development and family studies that incorporates NAEYC professional preparation standards
- Two practicum experiences to help you discover your calling
- Quality courses from respected faculty who teach the same classes online and on-campus
- Credit hours that count toward the Child Development Associate (CDA) and can be applied toward your state's credentials*
- Ranked by U.S. News among the best universities offering online degrees

Real degrees. Real opportunities.

*Review your state's requirements and speak to your advisor about how your coursework may transfer.

For additional information, contact the child and family studies advisor.

859.622.8764 | onlinedegrees@eku.edu

Apply today.

go.EKU.edu/ChildandFamily